STUDENT CERTIFICATION

I understand:
• Students in F-1 or J-1 visa status may not become a financial burden to the U.S. or its institutions.
• If I do not pay all tuition and fees on time, I will have to leave the U.S. because o my classes will be canceled and o my visa status will be terminated.
• I must be officially admitted and provide acceptable financial documents including an International Student Financial Source Form before an I-20 or DS-2019 can be issued. (See SEVIS Financial Documentation Requirements.)
• I will need to provide new financial documents if:
  o I must update my application to a later semester.
  o Extra time is needed on my I-20 for me to complete my current program of study. (Note: no extra time can be given if needed due to poor grades.)
  o If I will pursue another program of study (example moving from a bachelor’s degree to a master’s degree).
• I can be expelled from school for providing false information on my application or related materials.
